

6th Annual
Milton Elementary Music Festival
Sunday, March 11, 2018

12pm – 4pm at East Congregational Church 610 Adams St, Milton

Our 6th annual festival for elementary music students in grades 1 – 5 studying an instrument or singing

Sponsored by the Milton Young Musicians Festival

Each student will prepare 1 or 2 pieces with their private teacher to play at this festival. Upon arrival they will work individually with an accompanist or piano coach for 10 minutes, then come together to play for a performance master class with other students. This performance class is 45 minutes and is open to all: parents, teachers, and friends and other students. Each student will play their piece or pieces (with the accompanist) for a professional guest artist who will give comments and suggestions as well as work individually with each performer.

This is a great opportunity for younger students to work with an accompanist and perform in a recital atmosphere while working with another professional musician on their instrument. The master classes are mixed giving students the opportunity to hear a variety of instruments and different levels of playing.

Applications are on the Milton Young Musicians Festival website www.MiltonYoungMusicians.org, or from your teacher. For more information talk to your music teacher or contact Lynn Salmonsens lyns@mindspring.com Director of the Milton Musicians Festivals. There are no levels or assigned repertoire. Music is chosen by the student and teacher, either 2 short pieces or 1 longer piece to perform at the festival. Memorization is applauded, but not required. Each student should bring 2 copies of their music and the piano part. The registration fee is $30 (due Monday March 5). Each student will spend approximately 60 – 90 minutes at the festival. Individual times will be assigned.
